A strong commitment to workplace design believing in providing clients with the highest quality outcomes possible

Domino is a Practice Director of BVN and an Interior Designer specialising in workplace projects. During her time with BVN, Domino has worked extensively in many locations around Australia on large-scale complex projects; often involving a cultural change agenda such as the Minter Ellison and Herbert Smith Freehills new legal workplace in Sydney, the Santos Headquarters in Adelaide and the National@Docklands in Melbourne. Domino's experience has led her to develop comprehensive skills including developing design strategies that enhance and complement business objectives and cultural change programmes, client liaison, briefing, design, documentation, contract administration, on-site delivery, and managing ongoing post occupancy relationships. Domino has a strong commitment to workplace design and believes in providing clients with the highest quality outcomes possible that are sustainable in every sense of the word. She is a professional and talented designer with passion and enthusiasm.
